

Levanta Renewables certified as a Great Place to Work® in Singapore, Thailand, Vietnam and The Philippines

Singapore, 24 June 2026 – Levanta Renewables, Actis' renewable energy platform in Southeast Asia, has been certified as a Great Place to Work® across all its operating companies, in Singapore, Thailand, Vietnam and the Philippines.

Based on feedback from its most recent employee survey, the certification comes as Levanta Renewables continues to build its gigawatt-scale renewable energy portfolio across the region. As its teams continue to expand across development, financing, construction, operations and asset management, the organisation brings together talent from different disciplines, backgrounds and markets to deliver projects across Southeast Asia.

Pramod Singh, CEO of Levanta Renewables said, "Developing, financing, constructing and operating renewable energy projects is a long-term undertaking and our success depends on the quality of our people and their ability to work together across multiple markets and disciplines. This certification reflects our employees' feedback and the workplace culture that they have helped build."

Sonia Liew, Head of Human Capital at Levanta Renewables, added: "Great workplaces are created by great people. This certification is especially meaningful because it is shaped by the voices and experiences of our people. As we continue to grow across Southeast Asia, their feedback provides invaluable insights that enable us to further shape and build a culture where people can realise their potential, deliver results, and contribute to Levanta Renewables' long-term success".

The survey achieved a participation rate of 98%, reflecting strong engagement across the organisation. The recognition supports Levanta Renewables' vision of becoming a leading renewable energy platform powering a sustainable future for Southeast Asia.
